

OnBase Staffing Services

Today, many organizations are seeking both the flexibility to obtain resources when and where they're needed and the ability to support projects that require specialized skills that either aren't available internally or can't be leveraged in a timeframe that works with the project deadline.

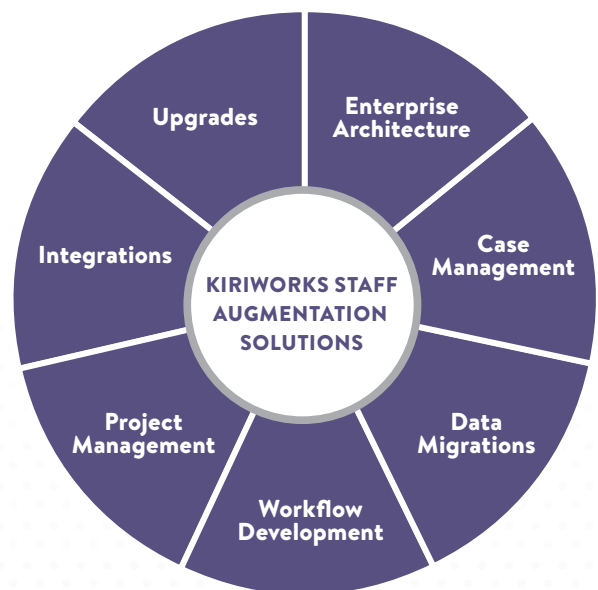

When an active project needs more resources to be completed on time, staff augmentation can be the best option. With staffing services, you can bring qualified engineers in-house to work side-by-side with your full-time employees, keeping projects moving forward and being completed by fully trained experts. Kiriworks staffing services provides experienced OnBase experts to fill temporary vacancies or supplement your existing staff for specific projects or initiatives.

Why Kiriworks?

Kiriworks can help you achieve your business goals and provide the talent needed to ensure smooth system implementation, enhancement, upgrade and system support initiatives.

Our capabilities in providing high quality, experienced OnBase experts in niche skill areas across the spectrum of ECM has resulted in hundreds of successful projects in several key areas, including Case Management, Workflow Development, Project Management, Upgrades, Integrations, Enterprise Architecture and Capture.

Partnering with Kiriworks goes far beyond the benefits you'd get from hiring an independent consultant. Your investment in Kiriworks not only includes access to additional resources but our team has the most current OnBase training that's not available to outside consultants. Maximize your dollars and invest in a partner that has an entire team of OnBase experts supporting them, not just one person attempting to troubleshoot your system projects with google searches and outdated training videos. Don't take chances on an unknown interim worker who can band-aid your project together then walk away with no strings attached. Our training, education and certifications speak for themselves and we are accountable for our work.
